ABOUT THE SYMPOSIUM

Concept Note

The Centre for Research and Innovation (CRI), Amritsar Group of Colleges, proposes to organize a Two-Day National Symposium in collaboration with Swadeshi Shodh Sansthan (SSS). The symposium is envisaged as an academic and research platform for meaningful deliberation on Bharat's civilizational identity, indigenous knowledge traditions, and its evolving role in the contemporary global order.

The symposium will focus on two interconnected thematic verticals—Global Outlook and Bharat, and Rich Bhartiya Life Value System. It seeks to create a meaningful interface between Bharat's civilizational wisdom and contemporary research, policy, governance, education, and global discourse.

The Global Outlook and Bharat vertical will encourage scholarly deliberation on international relations, geopolitical transitions, global institutions, economic realignments, strategic autonomy, and Bharat's role in the emerging world order. The Rich Bhartiya Life Value System vertical will focus on the depth and relevance of Bhartiya knowledge systems, cultural and ethical values, indigenous systems of thought, social institutions, and their potential contribution to addressing contemporary societal and global challenges.

Core Verticals

Vertical VII – Global Outlook and Bharat

Critical examination of international relations, global developments, emerging geopolitical and economic alignments, and Bharat's position in global affairs from an independent and Bharat-centric perspective.

Vertical VIII – Rich Bhartiya Life Value System

Exploration of Bhartiya knowledge traditions, cultural roots, civilizational wisdom, indigenous values, ethical systems, and their contemporary relevance.

Objectives

1. To promote scholarly discussion on Bharat's evolving position in global affairs and the emerging world order.
2. To encourage an independent and Bharat-centric perspective in the study of international relations and global developments.
3. To explore the contemporary relevance of Bhartiya life values, cultural traditions, and indigenous knowledge systems.
4. To promote interdisciplinary research connecting global affairs, Indian civilization, ethics, culture, economics, governance, and knowledge traditions.
5. To provide a platform for interaction among academicians, researchers, students, policy thinkers, experts, and scholars associated with SSS.
6. To identify potential areas for research papers, collaborative studies, publications, projects, and future academic initiatives.
